In the "wake" of losing one of our own, a fallen comrade, a WRESTLER through and through, I leave this funeral unwilling to say goodbye. I knew him. I can't do that. I grab his father Mr. Nevels, not willing to let go; I speak not, I can't summarize my sadness of his loss. As I exit, my only strength is to look back and see the droves of students, friends, and family left behind, have to move on, next practice soon to start. This will be my saddest day ever.

"Sore, tired, sweat streaming down my face as I usher out the last "GOOD WORK" to LCC Wrestling Club's newest Captain - Ryan later this day, we complete another AWESOME practice at the facility. Mission complete for us, both military Veterans, we KNOW how similar and CHALLENGING wrestling, plus service can be, same goes for another just finishing service this WEEK to note.

His name is Ollie, graduating LANCE CORPORAL in the Marine corps down in Missouri, Fort Leonardwood, and now we have ANOTHER from the wrestling family and immediate area doing HIS PART to give back. Ironically though, we already know this person TOO, and family well. It is long time secretary of mine - Carrie Hattaway's OTHER son, oldest to Thomas and Malik, and she is striving to get down for his graduation, but ill/no financing.

ENTER OUR NEXT MISSION, our next CAUSE, fundraiser, what have you for Camp Tisdale Community Center. We HAVE to find a way to get mom down to see her son. I've been told that if we could just help partially even, that out of an entire membership of 288, we only would need to raise $136.70, and in such Carrie could get her Amtrack ticket down.

So, with all that above in mind, I am establishing a fund just for Carrie this week, pledges, for anywhere averaging like $15-25 dollars, in such, they can be dropped off at our facility in an envelope, even sent to this address through PAYPAL, or other, bank transfer, whatever. In such, anyone able to give a little, I bet we can save this mom a LOT to see her son AGAIN.

Hit me up and let me know who's able/interested to help us once again for a worthy cause, very little to come up with, so I am REALLY READY for such in between the busy weekend of Carrie out trying to fundraise at the MSU game while some of us are out at the next MUSAW/MWF annual meeting, then Cedar Point for the women's extension the next day.
